

Prof. Dr. Hüseyin AYAN

1. The first part of the unit is a reading passage about the history of the United States. It starts with a paragraph about the early settlers and then goes on to talk about the American Revolution. The passage is divided into several paragraphs, each with a different topic. The first paragraph is about the early settlers, the second is about the American Revolution, the third is about the early years of the United States, the fourth is about the Civil War, and the fifth is about the Reconstruction period. Each paragraph is followed by a set of questions. The questions are designed to test the student's understanding of the main ideas and details of the passage. The questions are multiple choice, short answer, and essay questions. The student is to answer the questions in the space provided.

2. The second part of the unit is a listening exercise. It consists of a short audio recording of a conversation between two people. The conversation is about the same topic as the reading passage. The student is to listen to the recording and answer the questions that follow. The questions are multiple choice, short answer, and essay questions. The student is to answer the questions in the space provided.

3. The third part of the unit is a writing exercise. It consists of a short paragraph about the history of the United States. The student is to write a paragraph of their own about the same topic. The student is to write the paragraph in the space provided.
