1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1861. It is a very important document, as it sets out the policy of the Administration for the coming year. The President expresses his confidence in the Congress and his belief that the country is on a path of progress and prosperity. He also mentions the recent election of Abraham Lincoln as President of the United States and his belief that the country is now in a better position to meet the challenges of the future.

2. The second part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Treasury, dated January 1, 1861. It is a very important document, as it sets out the financial policy of the Administration for the coming year. The Secretary reports that the country is in a state of financial prosperity and that the Treasury is well prepared to meet the needs of the Government. He also mentions the recent election of Abraham Lincoln as President of the United States and his belief that the country is now in a better position to meet the challenges of the future.
